

Jumpstart: Writing Prompt

Assume that you are one of the boys on the island. Write a diary entry about your experiences so far. Consider the events that have already occurred in the novel and make predictions about what may happen in the future. Consider what your character (since you are one of the boys on the island) may think about the other boys, and their fears, reactions to the events so far, their separation from civilization, etc.